Permission to Share Data

Researchers from our partner organizations are interested in the data collected in this project. They would like to use your location information and drinking water data to create scientific maps showing the relationship between toxic metals and soil, bedrock, or other data. These maps will be used for community and scientific discussions and potentially publication in scientific journals. These maps will not display your name, home address, or identifying features, like streets, that may expose your identity or location. They will keep your data confidential. May we share your data with them?

Permission to Share Data with Researchers (Circle one) Yes No

The Maine Center for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the New Hampshire Department of Environmental Services (DES) are interested in the data collected as part of this project so that they can better serve the public health needs of each state. They will keep your data confidential. May we share your data with them?

Type of Filtration System (check one) *

Choose which type of filtration system is used in your home by picking from the list below. Even if you answered "no" that your drinking water sample was not filtered because you bypassed your filter to take a sample for this project, please choose the type of filtration system usually used for your drinking water, if indeed, you do filter your water. If you have two types of filters that you use, make note of the second filter in the notes section below.

- No filter
- Sink-mounted filter
- Water pitcher or refrigerator filter
- Whole household filter
- My water is filtered, but I do not know what kind of filter
- I do not know if my water is filtered
- Other (Explain below)

Describe your water filtration system below. Even if you have bypassed your filter to take a sample for this project, please explain how and why you currently filter your water (if at all).

Other notes and comments (depth of the well, results of other types of drinking water tests, whether the aerator could not be removed from your tap, etc.)
